ESCAPED PRISONER IS CAPTURED HERE BY CONSTABLE KINGSTON

William E. Bowden, who escaped March 17 from Angola prison, was taken into custody here last Saturday by Constable Nolan Kingston.

Bowden attempted to pass a bad check in Parkers Grocery on Hancock Street.

Constable Kingston had been watching the man because of his peculiar actions. Bowden had asked someone on the street about the officers here, and when told he had just been talking to one he called a taxi and went to another part of town.

When Mrs. Parker told Kingston that Bowden had purchased groceries in the store and had given a check for them, Kingston arrested Bowden to Bosdill's Store, where he arrested him. Bowden attempted to flee, but Kingston overtook him and, handcuffing him, took him to the Hancock County Jail.

"The constable got in touch with State Troopers in Louisiana, who came to Bay St. Louis and took Bowden back to Angola."

ONLY THIRD OF QUOTA IN RED CROSS DRIVE; JUST 1 WEEK LEFT

The speed with which the Red Cross was on the job in the tornado-stricken area of Arkansas recalled to many how quickly they were on the job when this area was so badly damaged in the 1947 hurricane.

To make this assistance possible Red Cross must have support. Dollars are a measure of compassion for a neighbor's plight. Dollars purchase food, shelter, medical aid. They were given here, and the Red Cross needs help to render like measure to Arkansas neighbors.

Hancock County's population of approximately twelve thousand could easily meet its 1952 quota if everyone gave as little as a half-dollar. A contribution, no matter how small, is an expression of sympathy felt for the distressed.

J. Cyril Glover, Campaign Chairman, reports that we have collected just about one-third of the quota of $5,734, with one week left in the campaign.

Pennies, dimes, quarters all help. They are urgently needed to make possible the missions of mercy the Red Cross is carrying out all over the world.

COUNCIL-MANAGER GOVERNMENT BILL

The Mississippi Economic Council recently compiled and published a condensed analysis of HB315 introduced into the Mississippi Legislature by Mr. Garrett of Tunica County. HB315 is a proposal to make the council-manager form of government available to Mississippi cities if a majority of the local citizens desire it.

The analysis is as follows:

1. Amends Chapter 385, Laws of 1948 to make any city or town, regardless of its present form of government, eligible to adopt the council-manager form of government.
2. Twenty per cent (20%) of the qualified electors of a city or town may petition before an election to be held for the council-manager "plan."
3. If the council-manager "plan" is adopted, the "plan" goes into effect upon the day provided by law for the next term of office of municipal officers.
4. A city or town may abandon the council-manager "plan" by petition and vote. If "plan" is abandoned, the town or city reverts to original form of government.
5. Size of city or town council under the "plan":
 Cities and towns of 10,000 or less—mayor and four councilmen.
 Cities over 10,000—mayor and six councilmen.
6. Election of mayor and councilmen: All councilmen and mayor may be elected at large, or the following method may be followed:
 In cities of 10,000 or less, three wards and two councilmen and the mayor and one councilman at large.
 In cities of over 10,000, four councilmen may be elected from wards and two councilmen and the mayor elected at large.
 The method of election of councilmen must be voted on by the people at the time of voting for adoption of the council-manager plan.
7. Function of mayor: The mayor is the titular and ceremonial head of the city or town with no administrative power. The mayor presides at council meetings.
8. Function of city or town council: The council is the legislative, executive and judicial body of the city or town except where the "plan" delegates power to the manager as administrator.
9. Manager—how selected: Employment by the city council by majority vote. Manager may be removed by the council for cause after a hearing.

 10. Duties of Manager: Responsible to council for entire administration of city, enforces all laws and ordinances, makes all purchases, prepares budget and reports to council, supervises all city employees and department heads and performs all other duties laid down by council.

11. Appointment of municipal employees: The manager employs all department heads and employees except the auditor, attorney and city judge who are appointed by the council. In its discretion the council may appoint the city clerk-treasurer or may delegate such appointment to the manager.

12. Courts and schools under the "plan": Not affected.

13. Chapter 494, Laws of 1950, is recognized by this act. Cities and towns may create separate utility commissions. These commissions are to be under the authority of the council and not the city manager.

14. Provision is made for redistricting of a city or town if citizens vote to elect councilmen from wards.

15. The recommended legislation is in conformity with the standard election laws, as revised by the legislature in 1950.

Taking Marine Training

Raymond L. Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Fletcher of 352 St. George St. is now undergoing training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

The 20-year-old former St. Rose de Lima High School student enlisted in the Marine Corps at Chicago, Ill. recently.

During the eight-week "Boot Camp," as recruit training is commonly called, Private Fletcher will become versed in such basic military subjects as precision drill, first aid, Marine Corps history and mission and field tactics.

Three weeks of the training period is spent at the Camp Matthews Rifle Range, situated 15 miles north of San Diego. While there Private Fletcher will fire the 30 calibre Garand rifle, 45 calibre pistol, carbine and Browning Automatic Rifle. He will also receive indoctrination firing with the light and heavy machine guns, 60 and 81 mortars, flame throwers, and the latest type bazookas. Under a newly adopted training program he will also receive instructions in throwing live hand grenades.

Fletcher was employed by the Atlas Box Makers Inc. in Chicago before reporting for service with the Marine Corps.

Upon completion of recruit training he will be granted a 10-day leave if he has maintained a good record. He will then be assigned to Marine post or station for duty. He is married to the late Danyola Williamson, of 1339 W. Pl. Chicago.

Do you remember how silly you were as a youth? If not, you have little.

World's Easiest Way to Cook!

JUST PUSH A BUTTON FOR THE COOKING SPEED YOU WANT

Hotpoint Electric Range

• Fast—clean—cool! And so easy, because you just push a button to choose your exact cooking speed! Colored lights show you instantly—even from across the room—what's happening on your new Hotpoint Range. And it's so convenient to change speeds, with a touch of the finger, even when holding a spoon or fork. We believe this beautiful new Hotpoint is the finest range built—and the easiest to cook on—of any range made. We can't begin to tell you all its features, so why not come in soon for a personal demonstration?

SIGN OF PROGRESS

in the Gulf South

7,000 MILES OF LINES ADDED TO THE UNITED GAS SYSTEM

Dependable natural gas service is one of the most important factors in the growth and development of the Gulf South. To assure dependable service to United Gas customers, our company has built some 7,000 miles of lines since 1941—to gather gas in the Gulf South and to transport it to markets, making possible a wide range of uses for natural gas.

and every foot of it was laid right here in the Gulf South. Our company's expansion is a reflection of the growth of the Gulf South, and it is our desire, like that of every good citizen of this progressive area, to accept the responsibility which is logically ours to help assure a continuation of this growth.

Beginning with the second World War, the Mead continues, we have seen a new phase of young people railing against the older generation. But it is not so much a matter of young men railing against something like common sense in the old days, before so many women were self-supporting. The fact of the matter is the father as the head of the household (The days speak of us not too far off) today, America marriage is a personal affair between two people. The headship progresses through a series of steps, which can either make or break off at any time. Thus, the Saturday night date, the Sunday morning date, the date, the wedding, going to a dance and dancing with each other, the fraternity of only with each other, the fraternity of and so on."

Dr. Mead feels the modern girl cannot make a great deal to marriage. She says the big turning: "The modern girl of our upbringing still does not mean

When the girl who promises to be a mother, then with proper intentions."

These letters brings to mind a lovely young woman we knew who was so late in her marriage that she discouraged all suitors away. She was lonely, it was true, and certainly entitled to a proper companionship which marriage offers. She had many assets: good looks, personality, clothes. Besides the promise of a slender inheritance, but she never seemed to get a man "into her heart" as it were. One day she broke down and related her troubles to us and asked what, in our opinion, we thought was wrong. Without hesitation we told her to relax. We took upon every man who asked leave for a date as domestic help, but to treat him as casually as if he were going out with her brother. That she admitted she found hard to do, for as she insisted, "I do want to get married!" Nevertheless, she was prevailed upon to try this method the next time. No matter how hard she was tempted to become "too" interested. Some time passed before she met another young man who seemed to have all the qualities necessary for a successful marriage. And although the girl had a special stock of these virtues, there was no outward indication that she was more than mildly interested. We hardly any time at all she had a proposal, and consequently married the young man. We met them both just the other day and they were still beaming after being married more than a year. When he said, "The only detriment was that she was so hard to

"No," she said, I interpreted glances and smiled heavily.

Architects are trying to whisk the American dream house from slumberland to the drawing board—rounds they invite creative living, a garden view and plenty of storage space. All this and two baths, too, at a fair price.

This home may be available in the near future for distant future. It was located in a really through-out meeting in Washington of the National Association of Home Builders—the Nation's "big operators" in home construction.

They got together with the idea of swapping trade secrets, passing on to one another their pet ideas, methods of cutting costs.

The greatest opportunity to reduce costs lies in standardizing units that make up a house and in mass construction, they found.

Plans were worked out, for instance, most homes had an eight-foot ceiling height, and other dimensions were worked out so most of the right lumber pieces could be eight feet long, a lot of labor costs could be saved. The lumber could be cut in lengths eight feet long at mills, instead of having to be cut on the job.

Building items have come in standard sizes for years, of course—the building materials men want to carry much farther.

One thing the builders figured they needed to know was what kind of house people wanted. They questioned a lot of families and learned the facts about the American taste in housing.

O beautiful for heroes proved
 In liberating wars,
 Whose blood has dyed their country loved
 And sacred shores, (tho' life)
 America! America!
 May God the gold refine,
 Till all America be nobleness,
 And every gain divine.

O beautiful for patriot dream
 That sees beyond the years
 Thine alabaster cities gleam,
 Undimmed by human tears!
 America! America!
 God shed his grace on thee,
 And crown thy good with brotherhood
 From sea to shining sea.

Women appreciate the elastic in that new grille, the rubber in those new automobile tires," says Rhonda Connery, who has spent three years as news and special events editor of Radio Malaya.

Nutgrass can be Controlled

By VERNON H. KIRK
Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station

Nutgrass (cock) can be eradicated in small areas, such as lawns, flower beds, gardens, by the use of methyl bromide. The method is not expensive and laborious for field use. The methyl bromide treatment also kills Johnson grass, Bermuda grass, and other weeds. There is some evidence that nematode populations are reduced by methyl bromide fumigation.

Methyl bromide is poisonous and must be handled with care. The chemical is odorless, but most commercial preparations contain added material such as tear gas, which give an odor that is easily detected. With proper care in application one can use Methyl bromide in the open with very little risk. Methyl bromide may be obtained from several chemical manufacturers. One manufacturer is distributing it in small trial application kits. The cost of methyl bromide is about $2 cents a pound at the present time.

Born results from the treatment are obtained when the soil is warm (above 505 degrees F.) and has been spaded to a depth of 10 inches. The spaded area to be treated is covered with gas-proof cover, such as Sisalene paper, Visqueen, or rubberized tarpaulin. The cover must be elevated in the center. This is accomplished by building a low wooden frame over which

Conservation Program...
The purpose of the program is to help assure that the soil will be cared for so that the necessary production may continue.

Only soil and water conservation practices which have been approved by the County FMA Committee, State PMA Committee, crop and soil specialists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Secretary of Agriculture are eligible for program assistance.

He explains that the funds provided by Congress are intended to encourage and help farmers carry out essential conservation practices. The purpose is to help assure that the soil will be cared for so that the necessary production may continue.

The ACP in effect is a government-farmer partnership for maintaining and improving soil and water resources. It is in a form of insurance that the resources upon which production depends will not be depleted, and that the national economy, health and welfare depending on farm production will be maintained. He points out that the help to meet the cost of conservation practices represents but a small part of the total cost of conservation activities carried on by farmers.

Star Theater Sun.-Mon.

Young Tony Curtis newest graduate to the Hollywood starring ranks, has added another notch to his newly-won acting laurels by virtue of his outstanding performance in Universal-International's "Flesh and Fury," at the Star Theatre Sunday and Monday, March 30-31.

This new film, which also stars Jan Sterling and Mona Freeman, comes close on the heels of Tony's initial starring role in the Technicolor "The Prince Who Was A Thief" and will prove to his legion of followers that he is well qualified to wear the coveted crown of stardom.

"Flesh and Fury" cleverly combines the stark background of the prize fight game with the unfolding of a poignant love story that reaches a new screen high in its tender telling.

Curtis, cast as a struggling boxer in "Flesh and Fury," has created a characterization which achieves unusual impact on the emotions.

Conflict backgrounds the unfolding of "Flesh and Fury" when Jan Sterling, cast as a brash, designing nightclub dancer, gives Curtis his first taste of gaiety and night life while helping herself to his winnings.

Mona Freeman plays a contrasting role to the glamorous Jan Sterling. Playing the meanest role of her career to date, a career studded as it is with "meanie" parts, Miss Sterling rises to heights in many intensely dramatic scenes with Curtis. Mona Freeman scores tenderly in her deep understanding of the fighter.

Wallace Ford and Connie Gilchrist head the strong supporting cast of "Flesh and Fury." Ford is seen as the devoted fighter manager who guides Curtis to a world's championship title and Miss Gilchrist plays the fight

Hi-Way Drive In Theater

Romance and adventure keynote the plot of "At Sword's Point," RKO Radio's new Technicolor drama of seventeenth-century France, which co-stars Cornel Wilde and Maureen O'Hara and plays at the Hi-Way Drive-In Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, March 30-31 and April 1.

Wilde as D'Artagnan; Miss O'Hara as Claire, daughter of Athos; Dan O'Herlihy as Aramis, and Alan Hale Jr. as Porthos portray the three sons and a daughter of the four Musketeers, the famous swordsmen who once helped the Queen of France. When a new crisis arises at the palace, the young quartette carry on for their fathers, and their gallant struggle against terrific odds leads to the stirring dramatic highlights of the story.

Robert Douglas as a powerful and sinister Duke and Gladys Cooper as the aging Queen head the featured cast of the production by Jerrold T. Brandt. Lewis Allen directed. Blanche Yurka, Nancy Gates and Edmond Breon are also in important roles.

The lavish production, with its rich costumes, sumptuous sets, ornate backgrounds is done full justice in the beautiful Technicolor film. The action is continuous, the sword play thrilling—and Maureen O'Hara is seen at her loveliest.

Complimented at Tea

Miss Lynn Dicks, an April bride-to-be, was complimented at an afternoon tea with Miss Mear entertaining at her home on de Montluzin Ave.

A small group of the honoree's friends were guests. Throughout the reception rooms wild Iris and White Cherry Blossoms arranged in tall containers were used. Centering the table from which tea was served was a large cake molded in the form of a lamb resting on a green mound. A white damask cloth covered the table and white lighted tapers were in silver holders.

manager's wife who kindles the tender romance between Curtis and Miss Freeman.

"Flesh and Fury" was directed by Joseph Pevney and produced by Leonard Goldstein. Irving Glassberg and Hans J. Salter receive cinematography and music credits respectively.
